

Supporting Suspected CTE Caregivers

Being the caregiver for a loved one with suspected CTE can be an incredible challenge. You may spend so much time caring for your loved one, you neglect your own needs. Below are some tips for caregivers.

Look after yourself first

- Setting aside time for self-care is an essential part of being a supportive caregiver.
- Put your own healthcare needs first and reach out if you need help.
- Prioritize activities that build your physical, emotional, mental and spiritual energy such as:

Create a support network

- It is important to build a strong and empathetic network of people who can support you and your loved one. You are not alone.
- Talk to a sibling, friend, parent, or therapist.
- Be open about your experiences with those who may not see your loved one at their worst.
- Our Peer Support Connection program is a great way to connect to a fellow suspected CTE caregiver.
